

Professional development for science, technology & social studies teachers grades 5-8:

“The Science of Green Design” Teaching materials science, product life cycles and environmental design”

Wed-Thurs., June 18th, 19th 2008

8:30am-3pm, Washtenaw Intermediate School District 1819 S. Wagner Rd. Ann Arbor, MI

Fee: $100 includes curriculum, materials kit, and lunches

This 2-day workshop provides:

- A classroom set of “Designed by Nature,”* a middle school unit that integrates standards in science, economics, and language arts. Featured in NSTA’s “Science Scope” journal (Feb. 08).

Topics: food chains & biomagnification; entropy, energy & recycling; polymers & biodegradation; product life cycles & materials use; producers & consumers. Reading and writing projects build literacy skills. GREAT FOR TEAM TEACHING!

- Stipend of $125-200 for using the lessons by Jan. 2009 and participating in evaluation.
- Optional CEUs or 1 graduate credit from EMU – Details forthcoming.

Registration form on next page. DEADLINE: JUNE 6, 2008

Questions: Contact Susan Santone (Santone@creativechange.net or 734-482-0924) or Sarah Pounders (pounders@creativechange.net)

“Designed by Nature” was created by Eastern Michigan University in partnership with Creative Change Educational Solutions. Materials are adaptable for older audiences.

Learn more at www.creativechange.net.

This program is sponsored by Creative Change Educational Solutions, an Ypsilanti-based nonprofit institution founded and staff by former teachers. Program support is from the Clarence E. Heller Foundation.

To register: Complete this form (you may type into it) and return with $100 fee made payable to Creative Change Educational Solutions. Purchase orders from schools also accepted. You can register now and send the fee later, but payment must be received by June 6th. Options:

Send registration and payment or purchase order via mail to Susan Santone, Creative Change Educational Solutions, 229 Miles St. Ypsilanti, MI 48198

Fax completed registration form to Susan Santone, 734-487-5250. Send payment later via mail.

E-mail completed form to Sarah Pounders (pounders@creativechange.net) or Susan Santone (santone@creativechange.net.) Send payment later via mail.

Note: Please use this form and pay/register through Creative Change whether you want graduate credit or not. Details on graduate credit forthcoming. Contact Susan Santone with questions at e-mail above or via phone: 734-482-0924.

Name _____
(First) (Last)

School: _____

Subject(s) taught: _____ grade(s): _____

Mailing address: _____

Email (Confirmations and program details will be sent via e-mail. Please list an e-mail where we can reach you during the summer if needed): _____

Phone: (work) _____ (home or cell) _____

Payment: PO attached check enclosed check to follow

What interests you about this workshop?

What experience do you have teaching (or studying) product life cycles, sustainability, and/or ecological economics?

This workshop provides a set of lessons on materials science, environmental product design. In which course(s) do you plan to use the lessons? _____

When do you plan on using the lessons? (Usage by January 2009 is required in order to receive the stipend.)